Director of Global Compliance
Skydio

Their story

Skydio, the largest drone manufacturer in North America, supporting local police departments, utilities, and military partners has successfully migrated from the T-Compliance Third-Party Risk Management (TPMS) platform to the Ethixbase360 platform. Before migrating, Skydio's approach to third-party risk management was manual and decentralized. The team relied on a combination of complex risk assessments, T-Compliance's one-time due diligence reports, external expert counsel, and internal finance resources to evaluate risk.

While effective in certain situations, these methods lacked consistency, scalability, and did not align with the evolving compliance requirements of Skydio given their growing business.

Why they migrated to the Ethixbase360 platform

Skydio's migration was driven by the need for a scalable, customizable, and efficient third-party risk management solution, one that could unify their approach to risk and keep pace with evolving regulatory requirements worldwide.

Scalability

With Ethixbase360, Skydio now has a centralized platform built to handle volume without increasing headcount. As the company expands globally, new regions and new categories of partners can be integrated without re-engineering processes.

Configurability & Simplified Risk Model

Skydio tailored the risk scoring system to fit their business model, reducing complexity and administrative burden.

“We stripped it down to the bare minimum based on our business model, the size of our company, and the type of people we interact with. Ethixbase360 were not rigid in any way, and I was able to design it to limit!” – Randy Sefcik

Seamless Data Migration

One of the greatest risks in migrating to a new system is data loss or downtime. Ethixbase360 enabled dual-system access during the transition, allowing Skydio to migrate data and users without disruption.

“That migration process was fantastic. We got reserved access to all our data access and you guys were very generous with keeping the T-Compliance TPMS on for us.”
– Randy Sefcik

Efficiency through automated remediation and clear reporting

Manual remediation was the biggest bottleneck in the legacy approach, often consuming weeks of effort per entity. With Ethixbase360, Skydio benefited from automated remediation and structured workflows, drastically cutting onboarding cycles from 7-20 days to just 72 hours.

At the same time, dashboards and executive-ready reporting provided instant visibility into risk posture, eliminating the need for spreadsheets or manual consolidation.

“ I would encourage someone to migrate off T-Compliance to Ethixbase360 platform, the simplified interface, configurability and visibility reporting – you have everything you need to do what you want seamlessly. ”
